DEDICATION

Professor Eugene Patton Price, Sr. came to Milligan in September of 1949. Since joining the faculty, he has become one of nine full professors, co-chairman of the Area of Professional Learning and Director of Placement (a service he began in 1960).

Mr. Price hails from Erwin - 'The Garden' - where he began his education at Elm Street Elementary and Unicoi County High School. His college career was interrupted by World War II. After his service as a sargeant in the United States Air Force he returned to Duke University to complete his B.A. and Master's degrees.

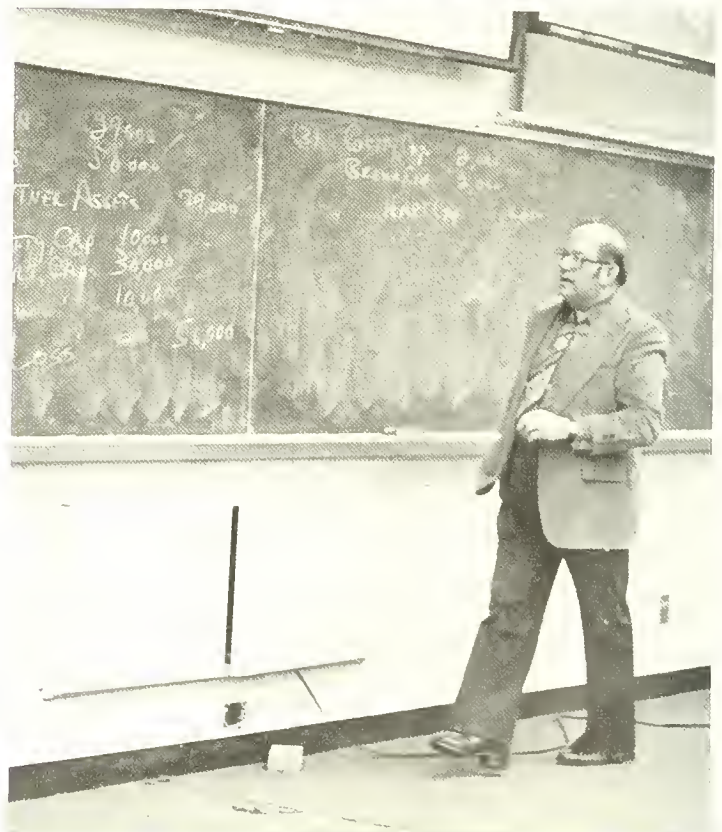

Mr. Price presently teaches courses in business administration and economics at Milligan, teaches banking courses at ETSU, serves as co-sponsor for Phi Beta Lambda, secretary of the Academic Committee, member of the Insurance and Bulletin Committees and marshall for the faculty. Mr. Price has been teaching longer than any other person presently here.

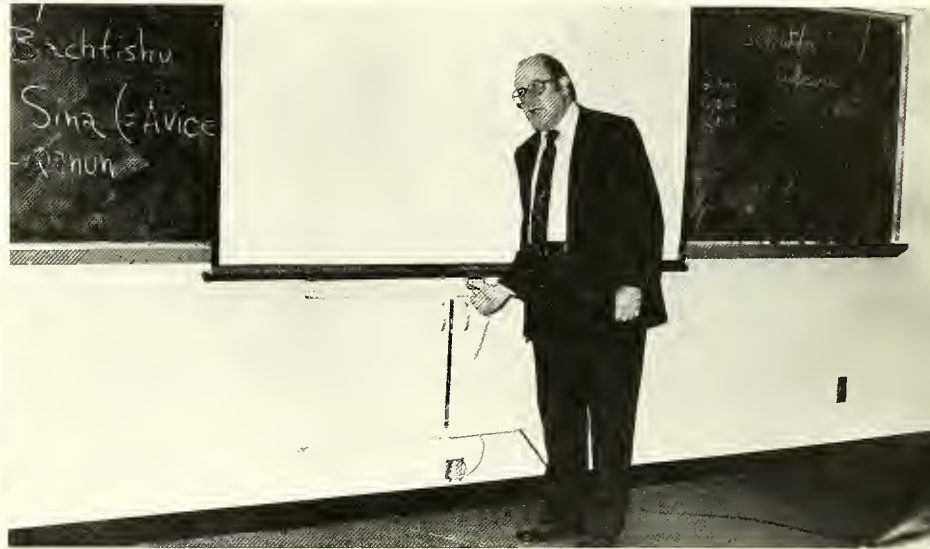

Mr. Price is a member of the First Christian Church of Erwin, where he is a teacher for a men's Bible class, Bible School Superintendent and member of the church choir.

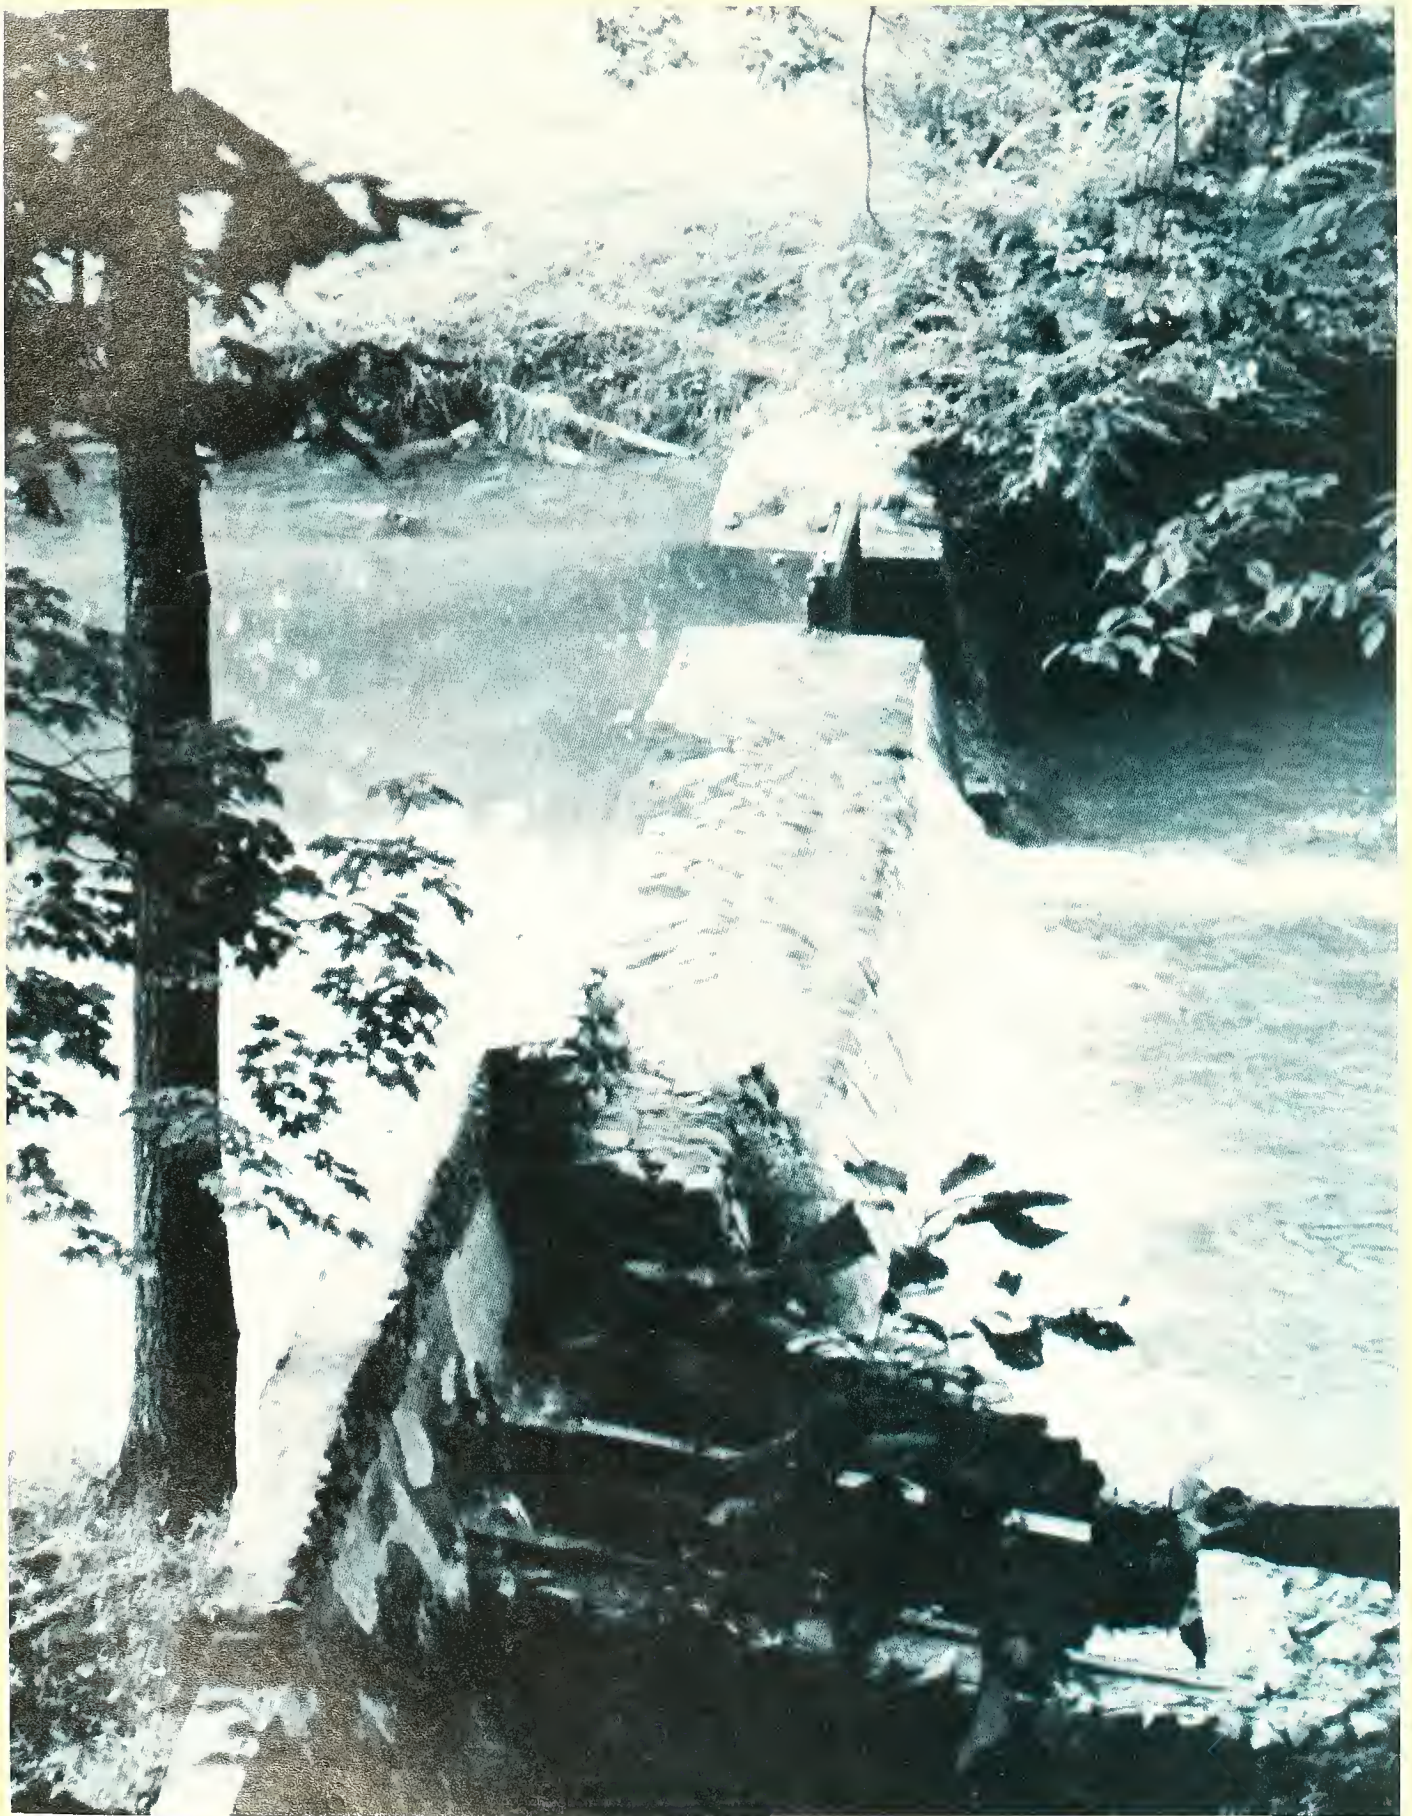

Mr. Price has recently finished a term as governor of the KY-TN District of Kiwanis International. He also serves as Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors of Erwin National Bank. Mr. Price has received the Freedom Foundation Award for his address entitled "Three Cheers for America."

The hobbies of Mr. Price intrigue many students - from his interest in coin collecting and photography, to his collections of model trains, tie tacs and piggy banks.

Mr. B.J. Moore, a neighbor from Erwin, said, "There is not a more well thought of person in Erwin than Gene Price." As a part of the Milligan community, students have been blessed and encouraged by the professor, leader and person, Gene Price. The 1980 BUFFALO is dedicated to this man.

A Recognition

Bob Hayden has served the Milligan community in many ways since his arrival on campus in August of 1976.

He has been on the Technical Crew for all four years. He has been in charge for the last two years.

Because of this job, he has become the handyman for the entire campus.

He has also served on the Student Union Board, committee of team leaders and presently serves as stage manager for Milligan Men and President of the Association of Christian Ministries.

His services are going to be truly missed when he graduates. Mrs. Fontaine, Dr. Allen and Dean Oosting are among the faculty/administration that will especially miss Bob's help. But as Denny Callahan said, "I personally don't know of Bob ever being too busy to be of help to anybody-exemplifying true caring and service." Thank you Bob.

Class of 80

May 18, 1980, a memorable day for the Senior class of 1980, brings our college days to a close. Graduation will conclude four years of studying, learning, growing, and living at Milligan College. Milligan has a special meaning to the members of the Centennial Class of 1980. It has been more than just an educational institution of classes and dorm life. But, Milligan College has been our home for the past four years. Friendships and relationships have been made here. We have learned to be disciplined as students and as Christians. We have suffered pain and hurt, but we have also enjoyed some of the happiest moments of our lives. Four years ago we stepped on campus as Freshmen and strangers from different states and countries. Our Freshman year brought changes and adjustments of being college students. During our Sophomore year, we became more settled and had advanced from the bottom of the totem pole. Between our Sophomore and Junior year, we welcomed several transfers into the class. As Juniors, we were finally in our major course of study and breathed easier with the thought of no more Humanities. Then, we were shocked with the realization that we were Seniors and started the countdown til the big day. Then . . . SENIORITIS hit! Even after being here four years, it never seems to have been long enough. Individually, we have given and received from Milligan. As a class, it is our prayer that we have contributed our best to the Lord and to the school during our stay here. Now, the future lays before us. For many the road is unknown. For others, it is plans of marriage, careers, and further education. May the love of Christ that we have experienced shine in our lives and continue to grow as we end our college days. To those classes who follow ours, may you also know of this precious love and have the wonderful memories of Milligan and friends that we will leave with. We ask God's blessing on our lives and we thank Him for Milligan College. May we never forget what we have shared together as the Centennial Class of 1980. Terri Newton, President of Class of 1980

Class of '81

"Junior" was the name taken by people of the class of 1981 during the school year 1979-1980. Juniors were an exclusive, exotic, and exciting bunch of people who were constantly in demand. They became more involved in functions and activities of all kinds, achieving a high degree of visibility on campus. In fact, some of the most active people at Milligan this year were Juniors, becoming prominent in clubs and dorms, often as officers and committeemen. Juniors were also well represented in athletic competition, in performances, in the dramatic arts, and in musical areas.

As a whole, the class sponsored the traditional "Twirp Week" and a number of prayer breakfasts. Fund-raising activities were held also. A new undertaking this year was the sponsoring of "Twit Week", a reversal of the traditional "Twirp Week". This event was held in the spring and was meant to stimulate social activity on campus.

All in all, if there was anything going on at Milligan, be it traying, slip-sliding, creeking someone (or getting creeked), creating a disturbance in the library, having a group raid at McDonald's or Poor Richard's, throwing a frisbee, or just having a good time—and—oh yes ... studying ... you could be sure there were Juniors there, having a blast and contributing to life at Milligan, having an experience in living.

I would like to thank the Class of 1982 for allowing me the honor and privilege of serving as its Sophomore president. We made a number of accomplishments this past year. However, none of these achievements would have been possible without the effort and cooperation of the Sophomore executive committee, and many of our class members. The activities sponsored by the Sophomore class included our yearly Sweetest and Valentine's Day carnation sales, a car wash, two class swimming parties, a room in the haunted house, and a movie. Each of these projects was very successful.

As president, I hope that each of you were happy with the activities that were planned by our elected class officers. Much time and effort was put into each one. However, our class can only be successful through continued and increasing individual participation. The more class members we have supporting our class, the better our class will be. A large number of active participants can allow us to undertake bigger and better projects.

In closing, I would like to thank the officers and class members who worked with me this past year. Also, I would like to thank Professor Rhoades and Dean Oosting for being the faculty advisers of the Class of 1982. Their time and effort is greatly appreciated. I would like to wish all the Sophomore class members the best of luck for the remaining two years at Milligan. Once again, thanks for giving me this opportunity to serve you.

Class of 83

As I sit in my real imitation leather reclining desk chair and prop my feet up on my hardwood polished desk a knot of pride swells within me. President Small ... I glance about my office, books lining the walls, a portrait of Jesus on the left and Jess on the right, and reflect. Suddenly my chair loses its balance and I ...

... find myself staring up at the carpeting on the walls of my Webb Hall room (if you've never been in my room, ask someone who has ...). As I begin to pick myself up off the floor, humility overwhelms me once again. My hardwood desk fades to one-quarter size, the library dwindles to a mere 231 humanities Books, Jesus remains on the left, but Jess fades in to Star Wars, and the Greek test is still tomorrow ...

But lying on the floor gives one an interesting, if somewhat different perspective on things. Something seems out of place. I was raised with the firm belief that school was a four-letter word (you can see why I have troubles in spelling) and was not to be enjoyed. But I've had fun here, more fun, in fact, than I've ever had in my life. I've also worked harder than I ever worked in my life. (Now I realize that's not saying much ...). But I'm not about to tell you my life story here (if interested please see me, or send $9.95 to P.O. Box 305).

When I was asked to write this, I was told that I could reminisce (is that spelled right?), preach, edify, exort, proclaim, or whatever. I gave it serious consideration to reminiscing (but, as you will see I ended up with the "whatever".) I could have started like this ...

I was running quietly, quickly through the warm night air, listening to my heart pound. I looked carefully around as I ran, but saw nothing. I heard a machine-gun-fire-hose in the distance and the 'wumph' of water-balloon-artillery in front of me. Then, out of nowhere, there they were. A dozen eggs flashed in front of me (while another dozen were slightly more accurate.) I heard cheers as a fire hose swept across me, drenching me thoroughly. Now, uphill, panting as I heard the screams of the innocent and virtuous being cut down. And then, suddenly, there I was in Lower Seeger, panting, freezing, and yellow ... The Milligan mile ... or ... Standing on stage in convo looking at all the sleeping uglies in the audience (for clarification, see Tommy Oaks.) ... or ... sitting in the front in vespers recovering from a 'group hug' ... or ... the Milligan College Dance (who said that? ...)

But, I think we've all had enough history in Humanities. Besides, I'm a future oriented person and I'm really looking forward to what my class can become.

But now we're here, ready to go on for another year. I want to say that I'm proud to be in the class of '83 because of the beautiful people that make up the class. I tried to get to know as many of you as I could in our limited time. And I honestly believe that I tried to show love, real love to all of you. I'm very glad/proud/happy that you allowed me to be the President of your first year in a whole new phase of life. Thanks.

In His and mine,

Gregory L. Small

OPERA WORKSHOP

THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK

For two years, a small group of Jewish people managed to avoid Nazi discovery in war-torn Holland. While hiding, a teenaged girl penned a personal record of events. During the week of September 23, the Milligan College Drama Department brought those events to life. "The Diary of Anne Frank" opened the 1979-80 drama season in Derthick Theatre.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" was under the direction of Dr. Ira Read, with Betty Jo Morrison assisting.

TWELFTH NIGHT

Over a period of two weekends, November 2-3 and 6-10, the Milligan College Theatre Arts Dept. presented Shakespeare's entertaining combination of slap-stick comedy and romance, "Twelfth Night". The Milligan production, directed by Dr. Ira Read, was originally written to be performed as a royal revel on a twelfth night (after Christmas).

Milligan College Theatre Arts Area presented their third play of the season February 28, 29 and March 1. Betty Jo Morrison made her directing debut with the drama "Five Finger Exercise". The play was written by the popular British playwright Peter Shaffer, author of "Equus". "Five Finger Exercise" is a story of a family brought together by an 'orphaned' German tutor.

It has always been tradition for an editor to give a few words of advice and to thank all of those people that have made a contribution.

I may start traditions, but I never break them.

My only words of wisdom to you are to remember, once you have been a part of Milligan Milligan is a part of your life.

Thanks to Johanna Burger—she designed the cover based only on the opening theme of the book. The Publications Committee and Dr. Euel Ownby—their leadership and guidance was always available. Harold Durham and Empire Photographics—their expert photography and quick rescue. Rod Irvin, advisor, and Sandra Smith, representative—their patience and insurmountable wisdom. Donna Bean, Diana Young, and Jan Bristow—their time spent on layouts. David Russell, Steve Owens, Randy Seals, and Janine Hughes—the photographers.

My special appreciation goes to Carol Grimes and Julie Knittle—for the hot chocolate, devotion, and off-the-record critiques. And to Ken without his help—from typing to doing the laundry—this book would not be in your hands now.

My thanks to all of you and May God Bless.

Graduated,
Vicky Hughes Followell
